

SIAN KA'AN

FLOATING IN A MAYAN RIVER

Experience

The beginning of this adventure takes place 3 kilometers into the Sian Ka'an Reserve Biosphere.

Our Skipper (the guy who "drives" the boat) will be ready to take us through majestic lagoons to seek for exotic birds and manatees.

We'll attempt to find some crocodiles too.

Navigating through ancient canals that were used as trade routes by the mayan people, we'll find two old temples as proof of this.

Since this incredible place connects directly with the sea, we'll make a stop at the Bocapaila pristine beach.

Then, the skipper will take us back to the canals to reach a wooden path that leads to the point where we finally will enjoy an almost effortless downstream flotation with the help of a life jacket.

You will admire beautiful landscapes, and if you want, you can rub natural mud over your skin.
